Help us promote Cindy’s story!

The Wisconsin Board for People with Developmental Disabilities (BPDD) is proud to present “Cindy Bentley: Spirit of a Champion.” This book tells the story of one of the disability community’s most dynamic leaders and activists. Born with an intellectual disability as a result of fetal alcohol syndrome, Cindy Bentley spent much of her childhood and early adult life in a center for people with developmental disabilities. No one expected her to learn the skills necessary to live on her own. To everyone’s surprise -including her own- she did that and much more.

Please help to spread the powerful lessons of resiliency, self-determination, and inclusion that can be found in “Cindy Bentley: Spirit of a Champion.” Whether you read the book and pass it along, or provide copies of the book for members of your organizations, you will find the Cindy’s story resonates with many people on many levels. For example, copies of the book could be given to a class of elementary school students so they could read about the importance of inclusion. Another idea is to give the book to a local self-advocacy group and they could learn about Cindy’s uplifting story and how she lives a self-determined life.
